Chest Workers To Meet Monday

Dinner To Precede Drive For $41,080

The Salem Community Chest drive gets underway with a kick-off dinner at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the Memorial Building, prior to the actual solicitations for funds which starts Tuesday morning.

At this early date, chest leaders are optimistic that they will attain their goal of $41,080, which is $5,600 more than last year when the drive went over its $35,480 quota.

Some $3,500 has already been realized by early pledges and advance contributions, with many of the donors raising their regular contribution in proportion to the 15 percent increase in the goal.

With industrial conditions now at a high level and employment increasing, the chest leaders are out to prove that Salem can do it again.

Rev. Richard C. Swogger, pastor of the First Methodist church, will head the program for Monday's dinner with a talk on the importance of the drive to the community.

Instructions to the team captains and distribution of campaign supplies will be made by Stephen A. Gonda, fund chairman, Eugene Young, vice chairman, and John Hochadel, chairman in charge of industry.

The 185 volunteer workers, assigned to 11 different canvassing teams, will start their solicitation for funds Tuesday morning by covering their respective territories. Eleven red feather agencies in the city will benefit by the drive.

Leetonia Youth Hurt In Two-Car Accident

A Leetonia youth was slightly hurt in a two-car accident at 2 p. m. Friday on the Millville hill, a half-mile east of Salem.

Donald Martinez, 15, of Leetonia received minor lacerations of the scalp when he was a passenger in the car driven by Howard Kinsey, 23, of Atwater which collided with the parked car operated by Thomas Wagner, 48, of Cleveland.

State patrolmen said Kinsey was passing another car while both were heading east and struck the Wagner vehicle which was parked on the north side of the road headed west.

October Blue Turns To Blues Over Rain

"October's Bright Blue Weather" was just the memory of a grammar school poem this week to Salem area residents, who found the weather has been anything but bright or blue.

Approximately two inches of rain fell here this week, with more of the wet stuff forecast for tonight and possibly Sunday for most of the state. Only consolation to a dreary weekend is that the temperature is expected to rise slightly.

Salem's wettest day was Monday, when .74 inches of rain fell on the district; Tuesday had .38 inches; Thursday, .46 inches; and up to noon today, .30 inches.

Postoffice Clerk To Retire Oct. 31

Irving Megraill of E. Third st. clerk at the Salem postoffice for 25 years, will retire Oct. 31, following his vacation which began last Friday.

Mr. Megraill received his appointment to this post Oct. 25, 1925. He had served as substitute clerk from Feb. 5, 1924.

Associated with the postoffice since 1918, Mr. Megraill was a Star route carrier between Salem and Winona until 1923. At that time the Star carrier served the patrons along the Winona rd. and also took the mail to the Winona postoffice.

Now the Winona rd residents are included on R. D. 2, Salem. However, mail for the Winona postoffice still goes out from the local office.

Archbishop's Freedom Terms Are Confirmed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 14—(AP)—The Yugoslav government confirmed today reports that Roman Catholic Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac would be freed from prison, when and if he agrees to leave the country. (Vatican sources said Oct. 9 that the prelate was not interested in obtaining his release on such terms. They said he had long ago refused to accept banishment as a condition of his freedom.)

Engineers Tour E. Furnace Co.

50 In Association Inspect Company

Fifty members of the Association of Electrical Maintenance Engineers from the Akron district made a visitation and inspection tour Friday afternoon at the Electric Furnace Co. plant.

Arriving at the plant in chartered busses, the party was divided into groups and conducted through the offices, engineering, experimental and manufacturing departments by plant personnel.

Of special interest to the visiting engineers were the completely equipped laboratory and experimental departments in which they were shown the operation of a 1,000 pounds per hour pilot line, one-twentieth actual size, of one of the company's new continuous bright annealing and normalizing strip lines. An actual steel mill installation is capable of 20,000 to 40,000 pounds per hour.

They also viewed other continuous and batch type electric and fuel-fired experimental furnaces, special atmosphere generators and other equipment for producing and testing special atmospheres used in the company's furnaces.

The visitors were impressed with the recently installed modern fluorescent lighting arrangement used in the engineering and other departments, and with the transformer department and operations of winding and building special transformers used in connection with the furnaces.

Other departments visited were the pattern, machine and structural shops, showing machining and other operations on heat-treated metal.

Detroit Police Seek Madman Who Attacks 6

Neighborhood Homes Entered; 5 Victims In Serious Condition

DETROIT, Oct. 14—(AP)—A madman suspected of fiendish attacks on six persons was sought in Detroit today.

Last night, going from house to house, he beat and terrorized women and children in a series of savage attacks with a metal club.

Six persons—including four women and a boy and a girl—were hospitalized. Five of the group were reported in serious condition from skull fractures.

Manhunt Begun

The terror was on Detroit's northwest side, in an outlying residential neighborhood of the Eight Mile road and Livernois district.

Police mobilized for a manhunt.

At the same time mental institutions were checked to learn if a dangerous inmate had escaped.

All the attacks were made before midnight. All the victims were at home or on their way home.

Three were members of a family group who were attacked at their home. The others were assaulted at their homes or on the street.

Descriptions of the assailant, police said, gave reason to believe the same "tall man in a grey coat" was involved in all the assaults.

From reports of the victims the man possibly was armed with a pipe wrench or a similar instrument. There was a question whether robbery was the motive in any instance.

Skull Fractured

Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital reported that three of the victims—Mrs. Dorothy Julian, 47; her son, Robert, 12, and her mother, Mrs. Viola Brezski, 63—suffered depressed skull fractures.

The Julian home was believed the first to be invaded. In other attacks ten-year-old Norma Friedman was beaten in her bedroom and Mrs. Katherine Clacher, 31, and Mrs. Blanche Cameron, 65, were slugged on the street at or near their homes.

The girl was taken to Northwestern Grace Hospital and both women to Mt. Carmel Mercy. Mrs. Clacher, who suffered a possible skull fracture, is the mother of seven children and is expecting an eighth child.

The invader entered the Julian home while the husband and father, Harold, was at work.

It gave Columbia Broadcasting System authorization to start color video broadcasts Nov. 20. An adapter, also needed, would cost about $35, CBS estimates, and converters will run about $100.

Community Fund Agencies—No. 6

Civic Programs, Meetings Centered At Memorial Bldg.

WHEN the Memorial Building was instituted 26 years ago, the cost of maintenance was set at $20,000 for the first year. Today, with prices skyrocketed in all phases of upkeep, the budget for this year's maintenance is set at $14,000.

The sum of $9,720 is hoped to be allocated this year from the Community Chest drive to help pay the price of carrying on the constructive work the organization has been accustomed to in the past.

Every year the building accommodates over 300,000 people through sports activities and meetings of clubs and organizations. The building is operated by a board of directors, with Joseph M. Kelley of 866 Lincoln ave. as manager. Holding that position since the building was opened, he is known as Joe to countless children and adults.

Last year Mr. Kelley organized or helped manage 78 basketball and 46 softball teams which used the building as their headquarters. Five wrestling shows were also presented in the building during the year.

Numerous state and government functions take place in the building, free of rental charges, including the hearing of certain cases and the administering of driving tests 2 1/2 days each week, when the state highway patrol tests an average of 20 applicants each day. A permanent home for three other Red Feather agencies, Red Cross, Girl Scouts and Home Nursing service, the building has also housed worshippers of at least five different faiths during the past when their churches were being rebuilt.

Besides these groups, the building rents meeting quarters to a large percentage of Salem's civic, labor and social organizations, some of which are Rotary, Kiwanis and Quota clubs. Boosters, Band Mothers, Salem Stamp and Coin club, CIO groups of National Sanitary, Bliss and Mullins companies, N. B. O. P. (Potters union), Farmers Institute, which for the past 17 years has been an annual function of five district granges, Farm Youth group and the Women's Relief corps, one of the city's oldest patriotic organizations.

Provisions for federal income taxes for this period was $3,222,400.

For the corresponding period of 1949 Mullins' net income was $2,063,988 on sales of $24,520,710. Income tax provisions for the first nine months of last year were $1,296,300.

Mullins' Net Income In 1950 $4,269,049

Enemy Beaten, General Says; Lauds U.S. Men

TOKYO, Oct. 14—(AP)—American troops seized Kumchon today in a roaring battle on the southeastern approaches of Pyongyang, the Korean Communist capital. It rammed a steel lid over an estimated 20,000 trapped Reds.

On both the east and west coasts of central Korea's narrow waist, Allied carrier planes raked fast disappearing Red targets.

But there was no further word on the big task group led by the battleship Missouri which smashed supply lines from Soviet Siberia on Korea's east coast Thursday and Friday.

Except for the U. S. First Cavalry division's capture of Kumchon—the steel corks on Communists bottled up southwest of Pyongyang—there was a drought in reports of ground action.

But there seemed no question that the Korean war was in its final phases. General Douglas MacArthur flew from this Japanese capital to his rendezvous with President Truman at Wake Island—scene of a gallant stand by a small band of U. S. Marines early in the Pacific war.

Truman Bound For Wake Island

MacArthur On Hand For Eventful Meeting

HONOLULU, Oct. 14—(AP)—President Truman winged toward Wake Island today for a momentous meeting with General MacArthur. Their talks will deal with the Red menace in Asia and world peace in general.

The President took off from Honolulu's Hickam field at 12:25 a. m. (5:25 a. m. Salem time). His plane, the Independence, is expected to hop the 2,300 miles in nine hours, arriving about 6:30 a. m. Sunday, Wake time (2:30 p. m. Salem time Saturday).

MacArthur awaits him. Wearing his neat but undecorated sun-tan uniform, a worn leather jacket and familiar braided cap, the United Nations commander arrived on the tiny mid-Pacific island from Tokyo at 6 p. m. (1 a. m. Salem time).

The President is accompanied with his top military and civilian advisers. The general took only a few aides and John J. Muccio, U. S. Ambassador to embattled Korea.

It will be a historic first meeting of the two men on that barren coral reef so gallantly defended early in the Pacific war by a small band of U. S. Marines. But it's likely to have a common, folksy touch, too.

MacArthur had his corn-cob pipe with him, as usual.

The general didn't leave a long list of instructions with his Tokyo staff for carrying on the final stages of the Korean war or for the complex duties of the Japanese occupation. He asked only:

"Be sure and flash me the results of the Army-Michigan (football) game."

But MacArthur's concern with the problems of Asia in general, and Japan and Korea in particular, was known in all the world's capitals. Hence, the world's eyes were focussed on the meeting.

Before leaving Honolulu, Mr. Truman expressed confidence that another war is not "inevitable." It was expected that he and MacArthur would seek to convince Asia—land of most of the world's people—that the United States wishes only its peace and well-being.

The President plans to return to Honolulu Sunday.

The President and United Nations commander are expected to discuss implementation of the U.N. directive for a unified, independent Korea and the problems of containing communism in the rest of Asia.

At Honolulu, Mr. Truman expressed confidence that a general war is not "inevitable."

Shortly before MacArthur's plane landed at Wake, Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay of the First Cavalry announced the capture of Kumchon, a communications center 11 miles north of Parallel 38. One of the cavalry spearheads smashed eight miles north of Kumchon to Hanpo, 65 miles from the Red capital.

Trap Closed, Gen. Gay Says
"The trap is closed," said Gay. "They will not get out any tanks, guns or vehicles."

Gay expressed surprise at the number of tanks the Reds produced for the battle on three sides of Kumchon. Nine were knocked out. Several days ago, in commenting that "these cookies are beaten," Gay said the Reds had only small arms, mortars and land mines.

At Hanpo, the Americans were astride the Red's main escape route to the north. But Gay conceded that some enemy soldiers might slip out of the trap.

It didn't seem likely that too many would get out. The South Korean First Division was driving northward on the American right flank and was 4 1/2 miles northeast of Kumchon.

A captured Red lieutenant said the North Koreans were trying to fall back on Namchonjin, 13 air miles northwest of Kumchon. Heading that way was another First Cavalry division spearhead, on the left flank of the troops who captured Hanpo.

The cavalrymen were supported by British and Australian troops. Allied fighters and bombers roared over the Reds' head of the spearheads. A spokesman said they may have bagged two of the nine destroyed Red tanks.

General Praises Troops

General Gay heartily praised his troops. He said the First Cavalry Division's breakthrough from the old Pusan beachhead in southwest Korea in mid-September to Kumchon was "the most rapid advance ever made in the history of American arms."

MacArthur's spokesman said that although Kumchon is in Allied hands, some fighting is raging south and southeast of the city. Counterattacks by Communists in regimental strength were rolled back.

One prisoner said about 1,000 Reds are still inside Kumchon. He said they still have tanks.

The push toward Pyongyang from the Kumchon-Hanpo area north of liberated Seoul was at the west end of the spotty 130-mile front slanting northeastward across the peninsula.

At the east end, South Korean First Corp columns headed north from captured Wonsan toward the big chemical center of Hamhung and west toward Pyongyang.

The main force, supported by carrier-based planes, was more than three miles north of Wonsan, 50 air miles south of Hamhung. This is on the east coastal road heavily hammered by the roving 37-ship task force headed by the Mighty Mo.

War Weapons Under Study

Operating Efficiency To Be Reported

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—The military high command will soon receive from a military-scientist team of experts an appraisal of the weapons used in the Korean War and the systems for using them.

This probably will mean that for the first time the joint chiefs of staff and the Defense Department's search and development board will get some cold, analytical answers on such hotly debated questions as:

1. How do the new American tanks perform under actual battle conditions?

2. The new 3.5-inch super-barb? zooka?

3. Have the recoilless guns, developed since World War II, measured up to expectations or are there defects to be mastered?

4. Who is right in the continuing argument over the adequacy and efficiency of air support for ground troops on the battle line and the complex system of control needed for such close-in air support?

5. How have jet-powered aircraft worked out for close-in support? Should specialized jet types be developed for this work?

The answers probably will be written into or implicit in final reports to be prepared by five members of the weapons systems evaluation group who left the Far East war zone a week ago after a prolonged study. They have forwarded to Washington some preliminary reports, but their final, overall assessments will be made later.

Council President Praises Vote Drive

President of council Curtis Vaughan told Junior Chamber of Commerce members in a meeting Thursday night at the Lape hotel their "Get Out The Vote" campaign is the most worthy project the club could undertake.

He urged them to "work your hardest" to get people to the polls. He asked the Jaycees, as citizens, to face reality, because "we can't afford not to be partisan" and continue our system of government. He said it is not true that men and women make enemies simply because they actively participate in the government of their city, state and nation.

Attorney Alfred Fitch also presented a brief talk during the meeting. He urged serious consideration of the qualifications of the candidates.

Program chairman James Jackson introduced Mr. Vaughan and President Horace Schwartz introduced Attorney Fitch.

GOP TECH VS. DEMOCRAT U.—In the forthcoming November elections, Republicans will try to drive over the midfield stripe of the special 96-yard field (each yard stands for a Senate seat). To gain a first down the GOP squad must carry the ball to the Democrats' 49-yard line (x); this would give them a bare one-vote majority in the upper house. Republicans are now on their own 42-yard line and Dems say they are going to stop them cold—and maybe recover a fumble.

ELEPHANT'S TURN TO DANCE?—Newschart above shows number of U. S. Senate seats held by major parties from 1932 to present day. Dems biggest year was in 1936 when they captured 75 seats. GOP corralled the donkey in '46 but victory was short-lived; the elephant returned to bread-and-water diet in '48. Now resilient Republicans claim they'll be back in the congressional saddle after November elections. Vacancies and splinter party victories account for the fact that big party seats don't add up to 96 (total number of senators).

Hershey Advocates 18-Year-Old Draft

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey wants to put 18-year-olds in uniform as a way to avoid drafting veterans.

He estimates there are 10,000,000 youths in the 18-year-old group who would be "a very rich source of manpower" for the armed services.

Youths of 18 are now required to register for the draft but cannot be inducted until they are 19, the bottom age for induction.

Veterans who served at least 90 days during the actual war period are now exempt. Deferment also is provided for ex-servicemen who served at least 12 months between Sept. 16, 1940 and June 24, 1948, when the present draft law went into effect.

Hershey previously had estimated there are about 2,710,000 veterans in the deferred category.

Kirwan Confident Of Democratic Success

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(AP)—Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio) says the Democrats will pick up enough congressional seats in the November election to balance any losses it may suffer to Republicans. The Youngstown representative told newsmen in Washington yesterday that "things look pretty good."

Kirwan, who is chairman of the Democratic house campaign committee, said he has been traveling into rural Ohio to test the direction of the political wind. He did not mention any specific election prospects.

Let's Play Football

FOOTBALL is no "lace pants" game as most everyone knows. Therefore, let football be played as football should be played.

The game is rough and filled with thrills from the opening kickoff to the sound of the gun closing the fourth quarter. That's as it should be. That's why the cheering fans jam the Salem High school stadium week after week.

However, a few critical fans in the "jeering section" who have been letting themselves be heard of late, apparently don't realize the damage they might cause to the morale of the players themselves.

Coach Ben Barrett, unquestionably one of Salem High's best grid mentors, has drilled into his boys the rudiments of the game with emphasis on sportsmanship. And, they're out there to win!

Coach Barrett has a championship team this season, a team capable of razzle-dazzle offensives and tight defenses. They can go through the season with an unblemished record IF the community is back of them 100 per cent. And, we're sure Salem is.

With a stadium packed with loyal boosters, who could even let their hair down occasionally for a few lusty cheers, the Quaker gridders can go in there—rough and ready—and bowl over every opposing team.

Let's play football. The critics can stay home.

Tightening The Noose

JUST WHEN people who are given enough rope finally hang themselves is hard to determine. They die by inches.

Take New York City, for example, where an arrogant political machine has had everything its own way for years beyond remembering. There was no limit on the rope it could command.

But now the rope has become a noose. The minority-bloc tactics used with such great success in previous elections have turned into an incredible tangle of religious and nationalist cross-currents. Three men who gained political preference because they were born in Europe are in a vicious fight for the mayor's job. A New Yorker whose religion has made him useful to the political bosses is being crowded in a race for the U.S. senate. Another New Yorker chosen by the bosses to run for the governorship of the state because of his religion is apparently going to be defeated by Thomas E. Dewey.

Also involved in a minority-bloc mess which has become so complicated that even its own creators are unable to understand it any more are an investigation of corruption in the New York City police department, the leftist splinter parties set up by the New Deal to confuse the electorate and a number of feuds within the Democratic organization. If the New York bosses planned it this way, they planned to put their heads in a tightening noose of public resentment which may strangle them to death.

A 'Little War' In Korea

WALTER LIPPMANN has been pointing to the prospect of guerrilla warfare against U.S. troops and their Allies in Korea. He suspects the United States does not know what it is getting into.

Guerrilla fighting, he points out, is an alien war to this country's militarists, preoccupied with super-bombers, atomic explosions and massed armies. They will need to learn a great deal very rapidly if the North Koreans decide to prolong a "little war" north of the 38th parallel.

That is the original Spanish meaning of guerrilla—"little war." The idea is that a few men can badger a closely organized army to death or surrender, if the few have the sympathy of the local population.

The Communist conspiracy is ideally adapted to this kind of warfare because guerrilla warfare itself is conspiratorial. Its fighters are most efficient when operating against strangers. They are like a flock of birds darting at a car which neither can kill them nor withstand their pestering attack.

A single line in recent news dispatches clinches the evidence that North Koreans intend to fall back on guerrilla warfare. A U.S. army officer is quoted as saying the Reds are doubly tough because they are using smokeless powder—"you can't spot them."

Guerrilla fighters equipped with smokeless ammunition would be as hard to bring to terms as American colonists firing at British Red Coats from behind trees. That was a rude surprise to the Red Coats, who never got the hang of guerrilla warfare as practiced in the United States in the last quarter of the 18th century and neglected thereafter.

When Andrei Vishinsky said he liked "some parts" of the U.S. plan for world cooperation to avoid aggression, he didn't say what parts. Probably the periods and commas.

Color Television

By WAYNE OLIVER

Don't Junk Your Present Set

NEW YORK
DON'T throw away your black and white television set.

It will continue to get all the programs you've been getting. Color television, under this week's Federal Communications Commission decision giving approval to the Columbia Broadcasting System method, will be a supplementary service—at least for a long time yet.

And if you want to get that supplementary service, it will cost you extra money—whether you convert your present black and white set to receive color or wait until color sets reach the market.

Suppose you had been on the verge of buying a new black and white set? CBS says, "go ahead and buy—you can convert it to color later."

How soon will color telecasts and color converters be available? Assuming there are no delays due to threatened law suits over the FCC decision, CBS has promised to have 20 hours a week of color telecasts on the air within two months. And one New York firm said today it would start putting color converters on the market within three weeks.

The public itself will, by its demand or lack of demand, determine how soon—or whether—color sets become available in quantity. This demand also will determine the frequency and caliber of color broadcasts.

The great majority of manufacturers opposed CBS color because it is an incompatible system—using different technical standards so that it can not be received in any form on present sets unless they are adapted. And they also opposed it on the contention that the definition of 405 lines a picture, compared with the 525 lines that make up a black and white picture, was a step backward. Some have forecast the public will not accept the CBS system.

However, if the CBS color telecasts should prove highly popular and public demand for color sets run high, then most manufacturers could be expected to swing in line and make color models.

CBS COLOR at present has a practical limit of 12½ inches in picture size for home sets because of the motor-driven color disc used to add color to the images coming over the air.

However, CBS says this does not bar the use of converters on black and white sets with picture tubes of 16 and 19 inches. Here's how it would work: For black and white pictures, you would continue to use the full size of the screen. For color, a special switch would reduce the picture to a size that could be covered by the color wheel which would be moved up in front of the viewing tube for colorcasts. After viewing colorcasts, you would remove the color disc, turn the switch back and again get full size black and white pictures. More than 90 per cent of sets sold in recent months have been bigger than 12½ inches.

If you want to get black and white pictures from color telecasts, you would have your set adapted. The cost for this has been estimated at $25 to $40.

The cost for converters to get pictures in color has been estimated at all the way from $10 to $100 and more. The cost for new color sets using the CBS system was estimated during the FCC hearings at $200 upwards, depending on screen size.

The Celomat Corp. of New York said today it was ready to start making converters immediately and to have them on the market within perhaps three weeks in substantial quantities.

MYRON GREENWALT, vice president, said one model giving a color picture seven or eight inches across would cost $14.95 and another with a 12½-inch picture would sell for $60 to $75. However, that's just for the device and it will be up to the set owner to have it installed. Greenwalt estimated installation cost at $35 to $40 for either size converter.

The Webster-Chicago Corp. at Chicago said it expected to have converters in production in quantity by the first of the year and that the cost probably would run $50 to $75.

Dr. Peter Goldmark, who developed the CBS system recently devised a kit for a small color viewer costing around $10 which he said was primarily for youngsters. He said today, however, it offered one possibility for adults to see color video on their sets, regardless of screen size, at low cost.

The set would have to be adapted to receive black and white images from CBS color telecasts. Then by looking through the viewer, you would see the pictures in full color—even on a 19-inch screen. Such a viewer, however, would be so small it would be limited to individual use.

CBS says development of a tri-color direct view tube will make it possible to discard the mechanical color wheel and to produce color pictures as large as black and white images in future sets.

Royalties involved in the CBS victory over competing color systems of Radio Corp. of America and Color Television Inc., have been estimated at $50,000,000 upwards. CBS says these estimates are exaggerated, however, and it will license all who want to make sets under its system for a nominal fee.

Some Folks Get a Lot of Work Done Over the Weekend

Presidential Communications

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON
TIMES have changed since the days when the American people learned to their surprise that a President of the United States—William Howard Taft—had actually stepped across the Mexican boundary in 1910 to a foreign country for a day's visit.

Promptly the question arose as to whether the precedent meant that the United States was momentarily without a chief executive. Then when, in 1918, President Woodrow Wilson went to Paris and stayed there several months at a time during the peace conference that followed World War I, the same sort of a discussion arose. The theory was advanced that, because the President went to the American embassy to sign official papers, he was still able to transact business on American territory.

When President Franklin Roosevelt went aboard the cruiser Augusta and later aboard the battleship Iowa and the cruiser Quincy for his sea journeys, the point that a warship is American territory was still maintained as the legal basis for official action.

Gradually, as Mr. Roosevelt took long airplane journeys, the question of legality was hardly mentioned, though technically a big military plane is as much American territory for strictly legal purposes as a ship that travels the surface of the sea.

Now, when President Truman has gone across the Pacific to Wake Island, he is far away from any embassy during the time he travels through the air on his way to the island posts where the American flag flies.

Spreading the Alarm

By TRUMAN TWILL

SHED a tear for hopeful householders who put in new lawns in the fall so they can start mowing grass like crazy men in the spring.

We came across one of these disenchanted beautifiers today. His feathers were drooping. His hopefulness had melted. "I wanted grass," he sniffed, "and look what I got."

What did he get? Weeds? "Information," he snapped. "That is what I got—information. All of it bad."

Tell more, bub. What's the connection between a new lawn and information?

"Only this," he explained, wiping a tear out of his eye. "I know from an unimpeachable source, as the writers say in the newspapers, that the Russian army has invaded the United States and is moving westward, traveling under cover of darkness. I know this because I have seen its tracks."

"It is equipped with dinosaurs and elephants, also myriads of horses, jungle beasts, cattle and giants. Foot soldiers in this vast aggregation obviously have been chosen for their size, all of them equipped with Size 12 shoes, wide width.

"Besides carrying its own supply of meat on the hoof, the invading army has brought women with it. Whether these are technicians or otherwise—or both—I have no way to know. All I have to go on is footprints. On that evidence, however, I do know that these females are stout specimens of the sex. They sank into the ground as much as four inches when they walked and wore size 9, also wide width.

"All the litter that might be expected to blow about in the wake of a mighty army moving overland is in sight too—cigar butts, cigarette packages, match folders, torn pieces of newspaper, chewing gum wrappers, tin cans, candy-bar wrappers, discarded wads of eating tobacco and so on. In order to throw America off the track all these articles are well known U. S. brands.

"I also have incontrovertible evidence that the Russian invaders are carrying with them a football squad and that it paused long enough to have a scrimmage in my new lawn, or the place where my new lawn was to have been. These boys specialize in plunges over the middle of the line and through several plantings of shrubs which were supposed to have provided fundamental landscaping for my new layout.

"You should send out a photographer to take a picture of the ruins for the record. I am thinking of erecting a sign—Bunker Hill: 1950—and charging admission fees. I might defray the expenses of having to do the job all over again in time for the foreign hordes to ruin it again in the spring on a retreat to Moscow. Remember, I told you so. This country is undergoing invasion. Me and a lot of other saps who have tried to put in new lawns this year are the first victims."

BIBLE QUOTATION
Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the son of man that layeth hold on it; that keepeth the sabbath from polluting it, and keepeth his hand from doing any evil.—Isaiah 56:2.

We'll have fewer accidents when everybody realizes that a cow-catcher is put on the front of engines to catch autos.

THE PUBLIC has become accustomed to the idea that a president of the United States may be absent from continental United States for long periods of time.

Mr. Truman's trip to meet General MacArthur puts him out of telephone communication with Washington, as there is no overseas service by phone to Wake. Radio communication, however, from the plane to shore stations is constant and, if any emergency arose requiring a change in the President's itinerary, he could be reached instantly. Perhaps it was this lack of means of immediate communication which caused presidents of the United States before 1918 to refrain from making journeys across the ocean.

There is today an elaborate system of communication set up whenever the President goes to sea. If he goes by plane, the navy cooperates by sending destroyers and other warships to take up stations at allotted points fairly close together along the line of travel. This furnishes not only communication facilities but added protection in the event that any forced landing on the sea should become necessary if anything goes wrong with the plane.

IT IS TO BE noted there are three big passenger planes traveling together on the President's trip. This, too, affords a certain amount of communication help in the event the signals are not heard plainly on the President's plane. To go 4,000 miles across the Pacific Ocean to Wake is much longer than any journey across the Atlantic and would appear to be a much longer series of hops than President Franklin Roosevelt took on his trips via Africa to meet with heads of state in the near east during World War II.

Only the White House staff who know the urgency arising occasionally for a presidential signature or a presidential approval, as required by law, can appreciate what it means to have the President of the United States out of touch for even a few hours. Theoretically, it's all legal, no matter if the President signs anything when he is away from continental United States—and the question of an "acting president" analogous to the case of mayors or governors who are absent from their respective jurisdictions has never been raised in the courts. There is no provision of the constitution which covers this explicitly.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

WE should all be grateful to Columbus—if he hadn't left the old world to seek the new world how would the new world ever have gotten all involved in the affairs of the old world?

But we can thank a woman's curiosity for the discovery of our continent—when Columbus said "what do you suppose is out there?" Isabella just had to find out.

It cost her a lot of money but it was worth it to be able to say to the queen next door "I know something that you don't know."

But like so many people with a lot at the beach she just wanted to own it—she didn't want to visit it.

War Classic

By STAN SWINTON

(For Hal Boyle)

Drive Of 25th Division

TOKYO

THE U.S. 25th Division break-through in southeastern Korea two weeks ago is beginning to be recognized as a military classic.

Its lightning speed from near Masan, on the deep southern coast, to the Yellow Sea at Kunsan was overshadowed at the time by the victory at Seoul and the linkup of the Allied northern and southern beachheads.

But some tough tankers say probably no other operation in Korea brought so much terrain and strategic advantage at such a small cost in lives.

The Masan front bristled with Communist positions when Maj. Gen. William B. Kean outgassed, wily Red commanders down south.

Obviously, Chinju was the first objective. But Kean threw his first punch to the south instead. Infantry clawed a hole in the Red lines at Chingdong.

Then Kean formed "task force Torman," led by young Capt. Charles Torman of Keene, N. H.

Torman's tank infantry team made a classic end run, southwest to Kosong, northwest to Sachon and then due north to Chinju. It swept to the southern outskirts of Chinju just as a co-ordinated attack moved over the hills into town from the east.

Boxed in from two sides, the Reds pulled back and ruined Chinju was captured with only a handful of casualties.

Torman was hurt by a mine but his wounds proved to be only painful.

Kean had a new task force ready to lash out from Chinju under command of Lt. Col. W. G. Dolvin of Greensboro, Ga., who had taught infantrymen tank warfare at Fort Benning. Dolvin in the next three days and four nights proved he could make blackboard solutions work on the battlefield.

THE RETREATING Reds had positions prepared. They thought the blown bridge at Chinju would delay American armor and give tired Communist foot soldiers time to reorganize.

Dolvin fooled them. His tanks dragged the motorized American infantry vehicles across the river with towlines.

At 6 a. m. Sept. 26, task force Dolvin knifed into the soft Communist line. It had plenty of power—two companies of Sherman and Pershing tanks plus two crack infantry companies. A young infantry battalion commander, Lt. Col. Bernard G. Teeters of Park Falls, Wis., a 1939 West Point classmate of Dolvin, led the doughboys.

Lt. John F. Hooks of Texarkana, Tex., was in the lead tank—named "Beautiful Mary" for his wife.

The column had to fight almost all the time.

At the obscure village of Hajon, an enemy regiment was firing from earthen and log dugouts. The column called in air support and hit the Reds with 16 planes, 4.2-inch mortars and 105-mm. artillery. Then the infantry charged uphill, crumpled before enemy fire, boldly moved up again and took the position.

The tanks roared ahead. The Reds thought their defensive position would delay the column. Instead, Dolvin's tanks overran four anti-tank guns before their crews could fire.

FARTHER ON the column machine-gunned down eight enemy engineers just as they were preparing to blow a bridge. By then the column was so deep in the Communist rear victory was sure.

The column killed at least 750 Reds. Once it chased 200 Reds down a road until they were killed.

American losses were negligible after the first day—and only a few of those losses were in men killed.

Task force Dolvin went as far as Ira and then turned due north to take Nonsan on the Kum river.

It traveled 138 miles in three days and four nights. It isolated all the men and guns the North Koreans had south of the 36th parallel in West Korea. Later they surrendered or were mopped up.

General Kean sent out a third column—led by Lt. Col. John T. Corley who had won fame as the First Division's "Fighting Irishman From Brooklyn" in Africa and Western Europe.

Corley and his column of Negro infantrymen followed Dolvin's path to Umyong and then punched in a left hook through Namwon and over to the coast. On the way it liberated 91 American prisoners of war.

Looking Backward

From The News Files

FORTY YEARS AGO—The Salem Business Association made plans to place electric arches at intervals along Main St. and Broadway to make the business district more attractive.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, leading figure in international spiritualistic circles, has received a warning from the first Lady Conan Doyle "from the other side" of an impending world catastrophe. The creator of Sherlock Holmes is now proprietor of a bookshop dealing with metaphysical and psychic books.

TEN YEARS AGO—Spain appeared to be moving closer to casting her lot with the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis as the Spanish voiced a chorus of rejoicing at the success of Germany and Italy in getting Japan to join them in an alliance.

Praises Coach and Team

The News: I think it is high time there is a clearing of the air on this matter of clean sports in our public schools and I am most happy to go to the defense.

Understand, I know many of the football players through community contact. I have never personally met the coach so I cannot be accused of being a special friend. But the practice field runs right up to our backyard. And I know wherein I speak.

The Salem High school football team is one of the cleanest coached team I have ever seen. I have never rough tactics. In fact, I have seen boys severely reprimanded for such action. The coaches do not even tolerate swearing as a means of getting it off the chest.

Further, I want to congratulate the team and the coaches for their hard and clean play. Too often we (loyal citizens?) teach our youth, if not by word by example, to do enough just to get by. Here is a man who is teaching our boys to give all they have to the job at hand.

We are most fortunate to have such an excellent man as leader of our boys. We shall give the team encouragement in victory as well as their defeats. Last week we sat on the top row of seats in the stadium at Canton and I tell you it was certainly a grand sight to see those fellows

So They Say

We speak of people whose deep concern is whether the children are well or sick, whether there is enough food, whether the roof leaks, whether there will be peace.—Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

If you're in love with a man, it doesn't matter what he is.—Screen starlet Patti Brill commenting on her wedding to a paraplegic veteran.

The actual start of a war is unjustified under our system except by the direct attack on the liberty of the American people. I had some doubts in the Second World War that there was any such threat.—Sen. Robert Taft.

making clean blocks and hard tackles. That is the game.

Finally, I am convinced what our splendid Salem youth need is less criticism and more examples of right living amongst the adults. Stand on any street corner and watch pedestrians and drivers alike break the laws.

Get around on the streets any night and see what age people are squandering their money and break the moral codes in taverns and joints. Who do you think keeps the gambling rackets thriving in Salem if it is not the adults?

Hats off to our football coach and the boys that follow him. I only wish all in our city were as clean and hard playing in the game of life.

And I will sign my name.

Miller-Hayes Vows Heard
In Baptist Church Parsonage

WHEN MISS DOROTHY MILLER and W. Donald Hayes were married at 10:30 Saturday the bride carried the white handkerchief which the groom's mother had carried at her wedding 59 years ago.

The couple exchanged vows and rings in the ceremony performed by Rev. R. J. Hunter in the Baptist parsonage on N. Union ave. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were their only attendants.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Miller of 183 Woodland ave. and Mr. Hayes is the son of Mrs. Myra D. Hayes of 690 N. Lincoln ave. and the late Albert Hayes.

A corsage of talisman roses complemented Miss Miller's tailored ensemble. Her bolero jacket was in taupe-colored crepe and the straight-line dress was brown as were her accessories.

Mrs. Miller's costume of grey and black crepe was patterned after that of the bride. She used black accessories and wore a corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony the newlyweds left on a trip through the eastern states. After their return from a two-week honeymoon they will greet their friends and relatives at a reception Sunday, Oct. 29, in the Miller home on Woodland ave. No formal invitations have been issued.

They will be at home in their apartment on Vine ave after Nov. 1. Mrs. Hayes is employed in the office of the Home Savings and Loan Co., while her husband has been associated with the Strouss-Hirschberg store here.

Quakers Win No. 5 Over Wellsville 24-0 In Weird Game

DAILY DOZEN By Bob Dixon

SALEM'S eighth straight victory over Wellsville was an odd one and had plenty of side-lights and behind the scenes action. It was a fairly good tilt and would have been better but for the whistle boys, who have to make a living too, we guess.

Ben Barrett and the Wellsville faculty manager crossed adjectives after the contest when the latter gave his opinions regarding the way Salem played. Ben gave him directions for his return trip to Wellsville and everything ended on a sour note.

The gist of the visitor's comment was that Salem played a "dirty" (that sounds vaguely familiar) game. This was repudiated, however, by Andy Lindsay, referee, who gave us this statement for publication: "Salem did NOT play a dirty game. They played hard football and that's all." (Reference: See letter on editorial page.)

Jim Callahan had his roughest night of the year. He was plastered plenty while passing and finally was tossed out of the game in the third period when he and end Ron Green exchanged muscles after Jim was tackled. Green went out too.

Callahan had been tackled and was down when three Wellsville gridders landed atop him. Then the mixup began. It was a perfect time to get thrown out, if it had to happen. Not against E. Liverpool.

Barrett wanted it noted that Salem's final TD came when he had seven sophomores and two freshmen in his lineup. Hardly could be called "pouring it on."

Nelson Mellinger, a sophomore, turned in the run of the game on his 63-yard touchdown scamper. We thought he'd fall on his face at the Wellsville 40, but he had enough left to stay on his feet.

Jim Ference, who hasn't seen much action this year, came through beautifully for Bruce Frederick. His 33-yard run in the first half was neatly done. Frederick, incidentally, came up with a leg infection Friday and didn't even dress for the tilt. He is to be X-rayed today. Tom Pastier didn't see action either. Charley horse.

Salem's penalties, stemming from blocking errors, didn't please Barrett too much. He had a heart-to-heart talk with the officials afterwards, trying to find out how they are interpreting illegal use of the hands.

Bob Mundy, the Bengals' left-handed thrower, together with Ken Brophy, end, pack all of Wellsville punch. Brophy is a transfer from East Liverpool High. With a better team, the two would be terrific.

Both bands put on neat shows Friday. The Wellsville county champion aggregation put on a comedy stunt and Salem's contribution included some Sousa marches.

The Salem band's majorettes, whose ability with the batons is exceeded only by their good looks, gave a twirling exhibition during one number. They are smartly drilled and have taken a back seat to none of their rivals in five appearances this year.

Louis Plans New Comeback Bouts

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—(AP)—It looks as if Joe Louis is going to keep on fighting until he gets one more shot at his old heavyweight title.

From reliable sources it was learned today that the Brown Bomber is planning a series of big bouts which he hopes will earn him another crack at Champion Ezzard Charles.

If all goes well, the 36-year-old Louis may take on Argentina's Cesar Brion in Chicago in late November or early December, followed swiftly by appearances in Detroit and New York.

In Detroit, his probable opponent would be Lee Oma, the veteran contender from Buffalo. In New York's Madison Square Garden he might face Rocky Marciano, the undefeated Brockton, Mass., slugger.

Then, if victorious in all three, Louis would be primed to face Charles again in an outdoor fight in Yankee Stadium. The prospects of a huge television-radio fee, far surpassing the $146,000 shelled out for last month's Charles-Louis scrap, is one of the tempting lures for a Louis return. Other possible foes include Lee Savold, British-recognized heavyweight king from Englewood, N. J., and Tommy Farr, the comebacking Welsh oldtimer.

Lisbon Whips Sebring 40-13

Steitz And Brown Star For Blue Devils

Right Halfback Carl Steitz and Clayton Brown, left halfback, chalked up three and two touchdowns respectively to pace the power-laden Lisbon Blue Devils to a 40-13 victory over the hapless Sebring Trojans Friday night in Sebring. Steitz also kicked four placekicks.

Lisbon put the contest on ice in the opening quarter by tallying 20 points. Steitz climaxed a 66-yard drive when he scored on a 12-yard scamper around left end. Brown, after losing a yard, also circled left end for 10 yards and a TD. The play was set up when a kick was blocked on the Trojan line.

AFTER BROWN galloped 32 yards to the Sebring 28, the Blue Devils' quarterback, Gary Pike, went around right end for four yards to mark up a TD after he faded to pass and, failing to find his receiver, decided to run for it.

Sebring got its first touchdown on the first play of the second stanza when Quarterback Youmans passed to Joe Tucker, halfback, in the flat and he took it 32 yards for pay dirt.

Steitz added two for Lisbon in the second period, one on a 12-yard end run and the other on a 50-yard sprint two plays after he intercepted a Sebring pass.

THE TROJANS came back in the third canto to get their last six points when Halfback Schenk cracked over right tackle from four yards out. Right Guard Conny converted for the point.

Held scoreless in the third quarter, the Blue Devils rebounded to tally once again. Pike's pass to Steitz was good for 45 yards to the Sebring 10 and on the next play Brown bulled over the goal line.

Lisbon Coach Ed Bucher used second and third stringers throughout the last half. Lisbon connected on three out of nine passes and Sebring made good four of 14, with the Blue Devils holding a 14-8 first-down edge.

The Blue Devils now have four and tied one.

Scoring by quarters:

Lisbon 20 13 0 7—40
Sebring 0 6 7 0—13

Lehman Beaten 19-0 By East Liverpool

Behind 7-6 at halftime, the East Liverpool Potters outplayed Canton Lehman in the last two periods to snare a well-earned 19-7 win by tallying twice in the final stanza.

Late in the first canto, East Liverpool drove 68 yards for a TD which was climaxed by a 28-yard scoring pass play from Eddie Oliver, left halfback, to end Don Glenn.

Lehman came right back in the opening part of the second quarter and marched 69 yards for its only touchdown which resulted when Don Sweitzer, right halfback, hit right guard for a yard. Fullback Jack Nichols, kicked the point.

After a scoreless third period the Potters tallied twice in the final frame, the first on a two-foot smash through center by Len O'Hanlon, fullback, and the second on a two-yard plunge by O'Hanlon. Oliver set up the last TD by intercepting a pass and taking it to the Lehman 23 from where he ran 21 yards to the two.

Glenn's second placement after the touchdowns was his only good one.

Lehman was slightly better than the Potters in rushing, getting 146 yards to Liverpool's 137 but was behind in first downs 13-8. East Liverpool heaved 25 passes, completing 13 for 168 yards, and Lehman connected on seven out of 10 for 82 yards.

The victory was the Potters' second in five games.

Yankees Take Home $5,737 From Series

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—(AP)—Winning the World Series was worth $5,737.95 each to 32 members of the New York Yankees baseball club. A. B. Chandler, baseball commissioner, announced yesterday.

The Philadelphia Phils, who dropped four straight series games to the Yanks, also split their winnings into 32 full shares, worth $4,081.34 apiece.

Thirteen other Yankees got partial shares, while nine other Phils received less than a full share.

Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, said the shares were "a little on the low side" this year. The Cleveland Indians set the record for a winning team's individual shares with $6,772.05 in 1948.

England Scores Twice; Ference, Theiss Spark Salem Running Attack

Well, the Salem Quakers racked up their fifth consecutive victory Friday night, beating Wellsville 24-0 at Reilly field, but they're a frustrated bunch today. The score could have been almost anything, except for an outburst of annoying penalties called against the home team.

Two clear touchdowns were called back, another run to the one yard line was nullified and many other offensive advances were obliterated by the officials.

As it was, Salem turned in its best offensive show of the season against a weak running, good passing Bengal team. Ben Barrett's team rolled up a net of 324 yards on the ground and another 126 by passes to total 450 gained.

Another 33 yards in running gains were called back.

In one ridiculous series of downs in the second quarter, the Quakers had a first and 10 on Wellsville's 44 yard line. In that series they gained 88 (count 'em) yards and didn't score. The half ended as they finally gained a first down on the eight.

Opinions varied regarding the officiating, but most of the Salem violations were of a technical nature, the major penalties being called for improper blocking.

Wellsville was helpless on the ground. The Bengals attempted only 11 running plays and gaining 26 yards by that route. They lost 27 yards running, winding up with a minus one yard.

THEIR FINE quarterback, Bob Mundy, together with end Ken Brophy, put on a neat display of passing. Mundy completed 10 heaves for 143 yards, although he tried 27. Six were intercepted by an alert Salem secondary.

The Bengals never threatened seriously, penetrating only as far as the Salem 38 yard line on three occasions.

Salem's ground attack was paced again by Bobby Theiss and by Jim Ference, who was subbing for Bruce Frederick. Theiss, running better every time out, rolled up 124 yards in 11 carries.

ries, while Ference picked up 134 in 18 tries. The pair continually swept the Bengal ends for substantial gains and were also picking up a lot of ground on quick openers up the middle.

Jim Callahan, who was ousted from the game along with a Wellsville player in the third quarter, completed six passes in 14 throws, gaining 126 yards.

SALEM'S OFFENSE was seriously hobbled by the eight penalties called and was gaining at its best in the third quarter, when the game was reduced to a laugh by the violations.

Outstanding again was Jay England, who scored two touchdowns in the tilt. He caught four of Callahan's tosses and converted one into a 42-yard gain by a beautiful piece of running. Another, a 50-yard TD play, is outlined below. Tackle Fred Csepke also had a good night.

The Quakers struck hard and fast the first time they got the ball. Ference ripped off 17 yards and Callahan hit England for eight and Fritz Roth for 13.

Following an 11-yard loss when Callahan was thrown while trying to pass, Theiss ripped through the center of the line and galloped 26 yards to the seven yard stripe. He added two more to the five from where Callahan threw to England for the score. It was a 60-yard advance.

Getting the ball late in the period, Salem moved with that 42-yard pass to England, but were unable to go on when Callahan's passes failed to connect.

THEIR SECOND score came in the middle of the quarter, after getting the ball on Wellsville's 42. Ference turned right end, followed his blockers nicely and went 33 yards. From the five, Roth took an end around play over. 12-0.

Late in the quarter Salem should have scored again, but those penalties stopped that. Theiss and Ference were running like fools at the time, but all to no avail.

England got his second score in the third period when Callahan threw a floater to him from the 50. Jay caught the ball on his finger-tips while on the dead run and made off down the right sidelines. Joe Hrovatic, halfback, cut down the lone Bengal defensive man with a sensational block and England sailed all the way. 18-0.

SALEM DIDN'T score in the fourth period until only a minute remained. Then they took possession when Tom Boone intercepted a pass on the Salem 37.

On the first play from scrimmage, Nelson Mellinger came a-

Browns Sharp For Card Tilt

Club Is Almost Back To Full Strength

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14—(AP)—Tony Adamle, captain of the Cleveland Browns, expects a snappy performance from his teammates tomorrow against the Chicago Cardinals at the stadium here.

"I have the feeling we are regaining that crisp mental edge we had leading up to our games with the Chicago Bears and the Philadelphia Eagles," he remarked after a workout with the National Football League squad.

"It's strange," he added, "but we didn't seem to have come all the way back against the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday, even though we had lost to the New York Giants."

"Usually, when a team loses a game, everyone is ready to do a big job the next time out. But it took us longer to recover."

Adamle's judgment was backed up by Coach Paul Brown, who said the Browns will be as near full strength as they have been since before the kickoff at Philadelphia four weeks ago. It was in that game that Lou Groza injured an arm that kept him idle until last Saturday when he did the Browns' place-kicking.

Groza, along with Rex Bumgardner who suffered a shoulder injury in the New York game, is expected to be with the offensive unit tomorrow.

Alex Agase and Chubby Grigg, however, may be given another day off to insure they will be in prime condition to battle the Giants a week from tomorrow.

The Cardinals, who arrive here today, have only Mal Kutner on the unavailable list. He will be replaced by Bob Shaw, former Ohio State star.

Columbiana Laced 28-0 By Leetonia

Joe Guido, Leetonia left halfback, scored three touchdowns and booted two extra points to lead the Bears to a 28-0 win over the Columbiana Clippers Friday night at the Clippers' stadium.

A 28-yard run by Guido around end gave Leetonia its first TD in the second quarter to put the Bears out in front 6-0 at halftime. In the third canto he tallied again, smashing off tackle for four yards. He also kicked the placement.

The Bears netted a safety in the third stanza when Roy Davis, left end, and Dino Spasato, left tackle, nailed Don McBride, Clipper quarterback, behind his own goal line.

Clem Tortora, Leetonia fullback, bucked for three yards to rack up his team's third TD in the fourth quarter. Guido's placement was good. Guido added a final TD in the same period after intercepting a pass and sprinting 46 yards to score.

Scoring by quarters:

Leetonia 0 6 9 13—28
Columbiana 0 0 0 0—0

Volunteer Firemen Display Equipment

LETONIA, Oct. 14.—In observance of Fire Prevention Week, the Volunteer Fire Department is exhibiting emergency equipment which it owns and that which it hopes to purchase in a display of equipment and fire prevention advertising in the Rouse drug store window.

"Fire prevention seals" have been mailed to all residents of the village and district by the secretary of the volunteer firemen, William J. Beiling. The rescuator was purchased with funds derived from the sale of seals in 1949 and the firemen hope to purchase two Scott air-packs with the funds derived from the sale of the seals this year.

Driver Fails Test; Smashes Three Cars

IRONTON, Oct. 14 — (AP) — Mrs. Bessie Small passed the written examination yesterday in her test for her auto driver's license.

So she and Portsmouth Examiner Troy Green went out of city hall and got into her automobile, parked parallel to the curb. Then it happened. Mrs. Small rammed into and damaged the parked car ahead of her in pulling out from the curb. Then her car shot across the street and smashed into another one, damaging that one, too. Her own automobile had to be towed away by a wrecker.

The driving test was postponed.

Chest Drive Opens Monday

Judge To Address Republican Women

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 14—With a goal of $5,100, the annual community chest drive will open Monday and continue ten days, concluding Wednesday, Oct. 25. An increase of $240 over the goal last year is attributed to the requirements of local relief, largely due to the increased cost of necessities.

Industries and business establishments will be solicited for their contributions as such. There will be no solicitation of employees or employees as individuals at their places of business. They will be contacted at their homes.

Chest officers are: Charles Ramsey, chairman; Louis D. Bair, vice chairman; Ernest Cope, secretary; George Keller, treasurer; directors, Mark Klingensmith, Rev. Aaron A. Anderson, Frederick Roth, Arthur Conard, Clyde Hoover, Grant Bevington and John L. Hutson. Zone captains and the causes aided by the community chest have been previously announced.

JUDGE ELMER T. Phillips of Youngstown, member of the court of appeals, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Columbiana Women's Republican club in the assembly room of city hall at 2:30 p. m., Monday.

to which all Republican women are invited.

The new office-type ballot to be used at the November election for the first time in Ohio will be explained and sample ballots will be available. Information concerning state and county candidates will also be given.

NEED OF MORE parental interest to help the Columbiana school band was emphasized by M. R. Wheeler, superintendent of instrumental music in the schools, at Wednesday's meeting of the Music Boosters' club in the music room of the high school building. About 25 were present, mostly mothers who are members of the club.

Mr. Wheeler said the school year started with about 25 members in the band, which has been built up to a membership of 45, but he said there is a tendency among the youth to lose interest in practicing and to drop out after a while. This is where the backing of the parents is needed to stimulate interest, he said.

More instruments are needed, also, he said, for the younger children who are prospective band members, so that they may have a degree of preparation. Summer practice to keep the band intact was mentioned, but would be impracticable at this time in adding to Mr. Wheeler's work schedule.

The club will consider the band situation further at its next meeting, date to be announced.

Molders Union Fined For Contract Breach

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—(AP)—An AFL international union and local will have to pay $37,500 breach of contract damages to a Hamilton concern, a district court jury decided yesterday.

The suit by the Hamilton Foundry & Machine Co. was brought under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act and is believed the largest ever returned of the few won under the law.

The foundry charged the AFL International Molders and Foundry Workers of North America and Local 68 of that union with violating a contract when 78 molders and coremakers struck on April 4, 1949.

The company sued for damages allegedly caused by the walkout.
